

The Current State of Workplace Safety

The NSC Member Benchmarking Survey is an annual effort to assess the current state of safety programs across diverse industries through direct feedback from member employees. The 2024 report, available exclusively to National Safety Council (NSC) members, summarizes the latest survey results and highlights key findings on workplace safety.

Key Findings

- Employee engagement in safety and health was the most commonly reported priority and the most commonly reported challenge to improvement
- Leadership engagement was reported as a crucial factor in driving safety culture and employee engagement
- A Values-Driven leadership approach was associated with the highest levels of employee engagement
- Incorporating Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) principles into safety practices remains a growing area of focus

Become an NSC member to access the full 2024 report

NSC members have access to the full 2024 report, including best practices and recommended next steps for the above findings. Complete the annual survey for personalized results you can compare to others in your industry and actionable insights you can use to strengthen your workplace safety programs.

Get the resources you need to optimize your workplace safety program, including networking opportunities, access to experts and discounts on training. Join today at nsc.org/membership.

